Crossing Crete's walking and hiking trails is one of the most rewarding experiences one can have when visiting this island. With thousands of kilometres of tracks, and numerous path options available to suit all levels of fitness, Crete is considered an ideal destination that will delight both beginners and expert hikers. 'Cretan Spiti' offers multiple suggestions for half-day activities or a day or plan a multi-day hike through protected parks, native forests and stunning coastal regions. The panoramic views from the traditional Cretan Villages and abundance of forests, picturesque houses and palaces standing proudly from the Minoan era constitute just a small part of Crete.

"Vatos" is in one of these villages, located close to the heart of Crete near Rethymno called where one can see the authentic traditional Cretan Life. Here is also where we find our "Cretan Spiti", which retains its authentic connotation and in its own way, (starting 2016) bears the flag on the on-going "battle" for the preservation of Cretan tradition.

The "Cretan Spiti" is an old traditional house in the heart of Vatos Village, which was loved and maintained by its original owners for many years. The Spiti (which means house) was well known in the vast area and it led an authentic, yet quiet life. However, the ongoing struggle in Crete to preserve heritage and to adapt it to contemporary life preventing it from fading and becoming extinct, urged the owners, to hand over its torch to the management of the ever-growing "Greek Spiti", in order to utilize everything that the house stood for and to use it to teach visitors from all over the world what Cretan life is really about. Therefore, since 2016, life in Vatos Village changed and the "Cretan Spiti", following a necessary renovation and through its tours and activities, opened its door and heart to "outsiders", welcoming them into its premises and inviting them to become part of one big family, the authentic and traditional "Cretan Spiti".
